SWEEPING JAMAICA

(Special from United Press.)

(Special from United Press.)
Halifax, Nov. 10.—There is grave anxiety here about the Island of Jamalca. Communication with Kingston has been cut off since Saturday and the last word received was that a hurricane of unprecedented violence was then sweeping the island.

There is a possibility that an earthquake has shaken the island as it is not considered likely here that a hurricane would have put the cable out of commission. The steamer Amanda from Halifax, which was aground on the west end of the island Friday, got off that night and must have encountered the hurricane but has not since been heard from. The hurricane is een beard from. The hurricane is elieved to have destroyed all of the early crops.

Havana, Cuba, Nov. 10.—Havana lost cable communication with Kingston last night about the same time that land lines at Jamalca were lost.

The cable to Holiand Bay is still working but land lines on Jamalca have been cut off and Holiand Bay has no news from either parts of the island. No word of any trouble has been received there.

City's Rights Will Be Protected Under New Administration

Whether or not this contract can be upset is a question. The railroad has performed its part of it—the promise to lay grooved rails. The courts not improbably might compel the city to carry out its part of the agreement.

Mr. Buckingham also said that the council has power to rescind the contract, but that it probably will not, because such action would probably be valueless.

As the Mayor also pointed out, the legal phases of the question must first be decided. Indeed about the only be decided. Indeed about the only chance to break the contract is that the courts may deciare it uitra vires, or out of the power of the city to make, in which case the council will certainly play no part in the matter.

Mayor Buckingham said this afterneon: "I wish it distinctly understood that any rights that remain in the city, despite the contract with the railroad that any rights that remain in the city, despite the contract with the railroad company relative to the harbor and the spur tracks from the car barns, will be saved. The courts go a long way to protect a contract, and unless the present contract can be shown to be ultra vires, or to contain a fiaw of some kind, it will be sustained. "This is the reason that we did not promise during the campaign to undo what had been done in these matters. It may be beyond our power to afford a remedy. But if any remedy exists it will be invoked."
"Have any steps been taken in the direction of ascertaining a remedy?"
Mayor Buckingham was asked.
"Not yet," he replied.

effected a compromise by which are. Eddy will be free to leave her wealth as she chooses.

This settlement comes as the conclusion of long and bitter litigation in which former Senator Chandler of New Hampshire was prominent and in the course of which Mrs. Eddy was urged to submit to an examination as to her sanity. Under these settlement arrangements and the trust heretofore established by Mrs. Eddy, George W. Glover and his family receive the sum of $245,000 and Ebenezer J Foster Eddy, the sum of $45,000.

On February 25th, 1907, Mrs. Eddy conveyed to Frank B. Streeter, Archibald McClellan and Irving C. Tomlinson, $125,000 in trust for her son George and his family which those trustees now hold. To that trust fund of $125,000 is now added $50,000 of the prescent payment to George W. Giover, making the total amount, held by said trustees the sum of $175,000, which added to the balance of the moneys now paid, makes $246,000 either paid to Glover or set apart in trust for the benefit of himself and his family.

POLICE HOLD UP MOR MARCHING TO LYNCH NEGRO

(Special from United Press.)
Caoro, Iii., Nov. 10—The police held up a mob which today was marching on the local jail to lynch James, a negro, arrested on suspiction of being concerned in the murder_and outrage of Anna Polley, a shop girl. The chief of police snatched a mask from the leader of the mob and then appealed to his associates to disperse stating the evidence against James was purely circumstantial but he promising a speedy trial. The argument prevailed and the mob dispersed. There were no arrests.

New Hartford, Nov. 10.—Burgiars I am defending myself cautiously, beentered the local post-office between 1 cause, unfortunately, I am obliged to but if you drive me to it I shall cease to be discreet-do you understand?" These words in an undertone pregnant with significance gave a glimps of the trump card with which Madam Steinheii as possible without getting at the real fundamental facts in the case.

Mariette Wolf, the Steinheil cook, confidant of Madame Steinheil's love affairs, said to-day that she did not know whether Artist Adolph Steinheil knew of his wife's lovers. She said, however, that he had seen Madame Steinheil's country pisce Vert Logis. Mariette restified that when Chouannard ceased his visits to Vert Logis. Madame Steinheil was ill for a long time. The prosecution declared to-day that they may have the trial postponed in order to have time to arrange further evidence. The prosecutor general would say nothing on this point to-day, however.

Mariette denied emphatically that she had ever attempted suicide. No hing could shake her in this statement, despite Barby's story yesterday that she tried to end her own life shortly after the murders.

De Valles questioned Mariette closely regarding Madame Steinheil's accusation of the witness' son but the woman evaded the point. Madame Steinheil, however, hastened to declare the accustation of Alexander Wolf did not originate with her but that he was connected with the crime by the officials.

this afternoon by intimating that the authorities had tampered with the statements taken from the witnesses in the case shortly after the crime was committed. Judge De Valles questioned Borderel, who said that Madame Steinheil had never expected to marry him, that she knew that such a culmination of their affair was impossible. De Valles then quoted contrary statements from what he said was Borderel's former testimony. Borderel became indignant, disclaimed having made any such statement and aroused the court room when he said:

"The authorities appear to be able to secure any statement which fits their wishes."

De Valles was obliged to threaten to clear the court room before he could obtain quiet. Borderel said that he had never heard Mme. Steinheil disparage her husband.

Count De Balincourt, another of Madame Steinheil's lovers, admitted having visited the accused woman at the Vert Logis villa and said that in order to disguise his visits he went there under the pretext of having his portrait painted in hunting costume.
